Tips for reading stories

Reading stories to children is a great bonding as well as educational activity. But did you know that there are other simple things you can do that help increase what children learn from the stories you share with them? Here are some activity ideas. Try out one at a time. See which ones work best for you and your children.

WHILE READING

- ★ As you read, develop your children's prediction skills by asking, "What do you think will happen next?" at some parts of the story.
- ★ Encourage children to express their feelings and get them thinking and problem solving by asking questions like, "How would you feel if that were you?", "Do you think that was the right thing to say/do?" and "What would you have said/done if it were you?"
- ★ Ask your children to look closely at particular details in the pictures. Let them count, describe, identify or interpret what they see in the pictures.

AFTER READING

- ★ Together sing a song or say a rhyme linked to the story.
- ★ Encourage your children to review the story by asking them what they liked about it and if there is anything they wished was different.
- ★ Invite children to draw a picture of the part of the story they liked the best. If they want to draw something that moves away from the storyline, like a new ending, or if they want to draw themselves as characters, encourage this too!
- ★ Act out the story – or part of it – together. Or, just dress up and pretend to be the story characters for an hour or two!
- ★ Get your children writing! Let them write a letter to one of the characters. Or, suggest that they write a story of their own that is inspired by the story you have read.

Do you need more advice on reading aloud to children? You can find lots of ideas and guidance in our "How to guides" in the "Storytelling" section of the Nal'ibali website – www.nalibali.org.

Celebrate friendship

International Day of Friendship is celebrated each year on 30 July. Encourage your children to use reading and writing to explore the importance of friends. Here are some activity ideas.

1. Read and tell stories which have friendship as a theme.

1. Buisa le go anela mainane a a ka ga botsalano.

2. Make a string of paper dolls and then write one thing that makes a good friend on each doll. (If your children need help with writing, write down the words they suggest for them.) Colour each doll a different colour.

5. On a large sheet of thin cardboard, write why you like your friend. Draw some pictures of things that you know your friend likes, and/or paste pictures of things that you enjoy doing together. Cut the completed cardboard sheet into about eight puzzle pieces. Put them into a box or bag and give them to your friend to put together.

5. Mo tsebeng e kgolo ya khateboto e tshesane, kwala gore ke goreng o rata tsala ya gago. Circle the words or phrases you want to use in your poem. Now write your poem using these words. Add in any other words you need to complete your poem. Give your poem a title. Read your poem aloud!

Keteka botsalano

3. Make a Joy Jar for a friend. On strips of paper, write down things that will make a friend feel happy and loved. This could be a personal note, a joke, the name of a song your friend likes, or a reminder of something funny or exciting you did together. Fold up the strips and put them in a jar. Decorate the jar by covering it in paper and then drawing things on it.

Use a teaspoon to dribble each letter of your friend's name onto a separate biscuit. If your friend has a short name, make flowers and hearts on some biscuits. Let the icing set. Then put the biscuits in a packet and close it by tying a ribbon around it. Give the biscuits to your friend on International Day of Friendship!

Nal'ibali news

Nal'ibali has teamed up with Clowns Without Borders South Africa to put on a series of free literacy-focused shows at libraries in the Eastern Cape, KwaZulu-Natal, Gauteng and Limpopo. These shows – running from March to October 2019 – aim to encourage communities to see their local libraries as exciting places for people of all ages.

Clowns Without Borders South Africa uses creative ways to raise awareness around social development issues and to spread joy. To date, it has reached nearly half a million children and their caregivers. When talking about the importance of getting children and adults excited about libraries, Suzan Eriksson, the Development Director at Clowns Without Borders, says, "Our experience shows us that the performing arts can be used to mobilise children and families in very effective ways."

The shows encourage families to visit their local libraries, to borrow books responsibly and to sign up for library cards. As part of this initiative, Nal'ibali is offering free training and resources to librarians who are interested in running reading clubs at their libraries. "Children need safe, welcoming spaces where they can make choices about the kinds of stories they want to explore, and Nal'ibali is committed to helping them do this," says Jade Jacobsohn, Managing Director of The Nal'ibali Trust. "We want people to discover storytelling in exciting, meaningful ways."

Libraries have a vital role to play in bringing about a reading revolution in South Africa. Research shows that children who read for pleasure, do better at school. But books are an expensive and scarce resource in our country. Libraries offer children and adults reading material for free – and you can visit them as often as you like!

Get story active!

Here are some activities for you to try. They are based on all the stories in this edition of the Nal'ibali Supplement: Ma Rosie's pig (pages 5, 6, 7, 8, 11 and 12), Joe (pages 9 and 10) and The worst birthday ever (page 14).

Ma Rosie's pig

- ◎ Do you know other stories about pigs? Read them or tell them!
- ◎ Write a warning note that the man could have given Ma Rosie when he sold her the pig. What advice might he have given to help her look after the pig – and everything else? (Make sure that none of your suggestions would harm the pig or be unkind to it.) You could include some pictures to help explain your advice.
- ◎ Use recycled materials (like egg boxes, bottle tops, plastic bottles, cardboard boxes and cardboard toilet rolls) together with glue, paint and paper to create your own pig.

Nna le mathagatlhaga a leinane!

The worst birthday ever

- ◎ On your own: Write your own real or imaginary story about an event in the past involving your friends or family members.
- ◎ With friends or family members: Pretend that it is a few years after the end of the story and you are helping Thando make a TV programme about her life. Write down the questions an interviewer might ask Thando, her mother and Santie about what happened in the story. For example, "Santie, how did you feel about living with your aunt and Thando?" Decide who will pretend to be the interviewers and the different characters from the story. Interview the characters using the questions you wrote together.

The worst birthday ever

By Zukiswa Wanner ■ Illustrations by Magriet Brink

Hi, my name is Thando. That's isiZulu for love. My mama says it is because she loves me so much. I live with my mum, my cousin Santie, and my aunt Sallie. Santie and her mum just moved into our place two weeks ago. Auntie Sallie is my mum's younger sister. This is the first time I have met her because I overheard Gogo saying her husband did not want her to visit us. They used to live in Mpumalanga before moving to Johannesburg to stay with us. Mum says Auntie Sallie had domestic issues so they had to come and stay with us. She never told me what the domestic issues were.

Santie is the same age as me. Well, no actually, I am four months older.

"Three months and twenty days!" Santie yells out.

"That's four months either way, silly," I say.

"No, it isn't!" she answers back.

As you can see Santie is very argumentative. I do not know why she likes to argue. It's not even her house. So, as I was saying, and I need to whisper this so she doesn't interrupt, "I am four months older than her."

Today is Santie's 11th birthday. My mum says she is going to make it special. Auntie Sallie will be working this evening. She just started waiting on tables at a restaurant in Sandton and could not get a night off. So my mum is taking us to the movies to watch Jock of the Bushveld.

I hope it will be fun. We cannot wait. Or rather, I cannot wait. Today has not been fun so far. Anytime I want to play a game and Santie wants to play something else, we have to do what she wants. My mum says I have to play what Santie wants because it is her birthday. I have tried to suggest playing something else, but Santie always screams so that my mum can hear, "But it's my birthday!" I hope next time she has a birthday, she is not here.

After we have had a bath and it is almost time to go to the movies, Mum says she has a present for Santie and me. She has bought us dresses and shoes to wear to the movies. She says it is so that we can look like ladies. That is so lame. Like, why didn't she buy us jeans or something? Santie's dress is like mine, but it is red and mine is yellow. Then we both have the same pair of shoes except her pair is red and mine is yellow. I hate dresses. Santie loves dresses.

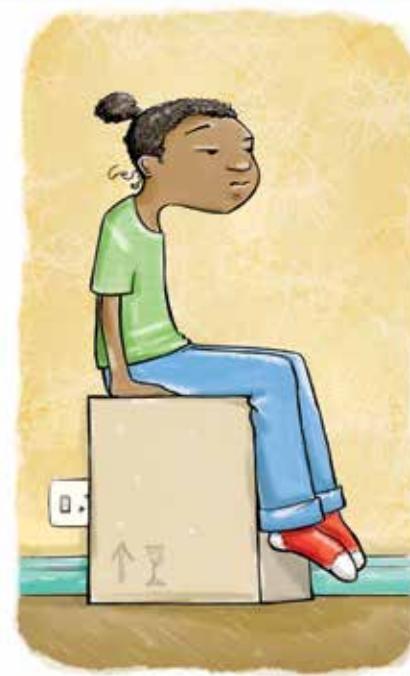

"Mum? We are eleven, not seven!" I say to Mum because I am embarrassed at the matching outfits.

My mum looks at me and says, "Wena, Thando, is that a way to say thank you? I will take that dress back to the shop and you will not go to the movies with us. Why can't you be polite like Santie and just say thank you?"

So I say, "Thank you," under my breath.

My mum looks at me and says, "I didn't hear you."

And I say again loudly, "I said THANK YOU."

"That's better. Now go and change," she says. I see Santie smiling and pulling her tongue at me behind my mum's back. I wish I could pinch her. She is so annoying.

We finish dressing up. I really hate this dress, and my mum says, "Let's go girls." We follow her.

When we get in the taxi to go to the movies, the taxi driver says, "What beautiful daughters you have, Madam." So I smile although I know I am better looking than Santie. But then I get upset because he asks my mother, "Are they twins?"

And just as I am about to say no, we are just cousins, my mum says, "No, they are just sisters." She is not my sister. She is my cousin!

We get to the movies and I hope I do not see anyone I know from my school.

And then it happens.

As we are waiting for my mum to buy tickets, I see this cute boy that I like in my class. Siya is walking with his best friend Sam and also going into the movies.

He says to me, "Well hello, Thando, aren't you too old to be dressed in matching outfits?"

You see what I mean? I wish the floor could just open up and swallow me.

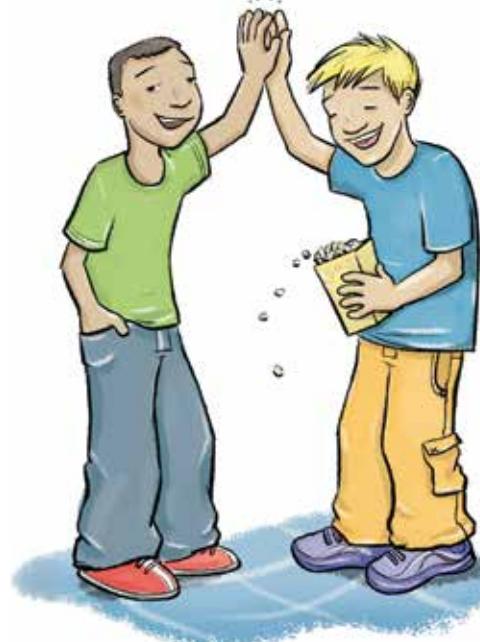

"What's that to you? You are just a stupid boy who does not know fashion!" Santie answers.

OMG, why did she do that?

"Yes, whatever, Thando's 'twin,'" he says and both he and Sam high five each other and start laughing while pointing at us.

I nudge Santie and say, "What is wrong with you? Why did you have to do that?"

"He was being mean to you. I was just helping you," she answers.

"Thanks a lot! I did not ask for your help. Siya is the cutest guy in my class and now I will be the class joke," I say angrily.

"Is he your boyfriend?" she says rolling her eyes.

"Of course not," I say. I wish he was my boyfriend, but now he will never be, thanks to her big mouth.

"Oh oh, Thando's got a boyfriend, Thando's got a boyfriend ..." she chants.

It is at that moment that my mum comes back and asks Santie, "What's that, Sweetie?"

And Santie says, "Nothing, Auntie. Thando and I were just joking."

And my mum says, "Okay," and hands each of us a box of popcorn, a soda and some Smarties.

"Thank you so much, Auntie, this is the best birthday ever," Santie says kissing my mum's cheek.

My mum smiles and says, "Oh darling, it's nothing. I promise to make next year even better."

Kill me now. This is the worst birthday ever. And it is not even my birthday. Also, Santie is going to be here next year?

When I grow up I want to be a documentary film maker. I am not sure exactly what they do, but a woman who came to our school said that she was one, and it sounded very cool. She said she records stories. So I am recording this story so that when Santie is grown up, she too will remember that this was the worst birthday ever!
