8 benefits of reading aloud

Reading aloud to your children:

1. shows them that you value books and reading.
2. gives you things to talk about together.
3. builds a bond between you.
4. allows them to experience reading as a satisfying activity.
5. motivates them to learn to read for themselves and then to keep reading.
6. shows them how we read and how books work.
7. lets them enjoy stories that are beyond their current reading ability.
8. develops their imagination, vocabulary and language abilities.

Tsivhudzo dza u vhalela n̄tha

- * U vhalela n̄tha zwi vha mutambo tshifhinga tshothel! Ni shandu-shandule ipfi lanu u sumbedza madipfele a zwine na khou zwi vhala.

Tips for reading aloud

- * Reading aloud is always a performance! Put lots of expression in your voice to create the mood.
- * If you are reading to a group of children, practise reading the story aloud a few times before you read it to them.
- * Start by reading the name of the author and illustrator so that your children appreciate that books are created by people just like them!
- * Allow time for your children to look at the pictures and comment if they want to.
- * Help develop your children's prediction skills by asking questions like, "What do you think is going to happen next?"

Dear parents and caregivers of young children, settling down with your children and a story is an excellent way to have an enjoyable and satisfying time together.
Exploring a story is much more than just reading the words on a page - it's about taking a journey together as you think and talk about the pictures and ideas in the story.

There is no one correct way to experience a story and that's what makes them so powerful! Read with your children regularly, and you will see just how much they learn and what they can do with books!

Tsivhudzo dza u vhala dza Duvha la Lifhasi la u Vhalela Ntha - na duvha linwe na linwe!

Reading tips for World Read Aloud Day - and every day!

u vhala nothe zwitori. Vhalelani ntha zwitori zwine na zwi takalela na zwine vhana vhaṇu vha dikhethela zwone.

* Read the title of the book and the name of the author and illustrator each time you read a story to your children. Ask them if they can guess what the story is about from listening to the title and looking at the illustration on the cover.

* When you read aloud for them, you are their reading role model, giving them precious knowledge about how we read stories.

* Read with as much expression as you can. You may feel a little odd doing this in the beginning, but your children will appreciate it!

* Deepen your children's understanding of the stories you read by asking questions.
You might want to ask some of these questions as you read a story, while other questions can be discussed after you have finished reading. Talking about stories in these ways helps children to understand how stories work - another essential literacy skill!

* Set aside a special time each day when you can enjoy stories together. Read cloud stories that you like and the stories that your children choose themselves.

- * ḫutuwedzani vhana vhaṇu uri vha ole tshipelupelu.

How to use the story What is it?

1. Invite – never force – your child to read with you.
2. Find somewhere quiet and comfortable to read. Turn off the radio, TV, and cell phone.
3. Sit close together or with your child on your lap.
4. Start by looking at and talking about the story's front cover. Read the story's title and the names of the author and illustrator.
5. Look at the pictures on each page. Encourage your child to smell, hold or touch the pages.
6. Make the story come alive! Use different voices for Afrika, Mme wa Afrika, the taxi driver and people at the market.
7. Ask, “What do you think is going to happen next?” at different parts of the story. Such questions will help to stimulate your child’s imagination.
8. Talk to each other about the story. Discuss questions like, “Do you like going shopping? What is the colour of the apples?”
9. Tell your child what you like about the illustrations. Ask your child what they like about the illustrations.
10. Most of all, enjoy sharing the book, and always try your best to make reading fun!

Activity ideas for What is it?

Throughout the day (even when you are doing chores!), you can do fun activities with your children:

- * Sing a song about windmills, colours or going to the market.
- * Look at your children and point to something close by. Ask them, “What is it?” Give them time to answer. Then, whether they answered correctly or incorrectly, say: “It is a ...”, and encourage them repeat your sentence.
- * Encourage your children to try drawing a windmill.

Ndila ya u shumisa zwitiori zwashu nga ndila dici sā fani

How to use our stories in different ways

1. Tell the story to your child. Read and practise telling the story. Then use your voice, face and body to bring the story to life.
2. Read the story to your child. Talk about the pictures. Ask, “What do you think happens next?” or “Why do you think the character said or did that?”
3. Read the story with your child. Take turns to read the story together. Don’t correct their mistakes, and only help if they ask for it.
4. Listen to your child read. Listen without interrupting. Say that you enjoy hearing them read aloud to you.
5. Do the Get story active! activities. This should be fun for you and your child.

Next, the children searched inside the house for more ingredients. They collected old crayons, half a bottle of bubble mixture, an old sock, cotton wool, playdough and a dash of glitter. They added these to the pot and put in a whole lot of cold water.

Zaza and Ayo were bored. Then Granny suggested that they cook up something very interesting!

This story was specially created for Nal'ibali to spark children's potential through storytelling and reading for enjoyment.

- ★ Encourage your children to create a recipe to make a dragon! Let them list their ingredients and write out the method they will use to make their dragon.
- ★ Ask them to draw pictures of their dragon. Prompt them by asking, "What does your dragon look like when it is angry? What does it look like when it is friendly?"
- ★ Use recycled materials such as old socks, bits of cloth, buttons and wool to make a dragon doll. Stuff the doll with old socks and cloth.

“Granny,” chuckled the children. “There are no such things as dragons.”

“Of course, there are!” said Granny. “How do you think I lost this thumb? Making a dragon is very serious business. You have to get the recipe just right, or you could end up with a rotten dragon, just like I did.”

Ayo and Zaza looked at each other with eyes as big and round as pizzas.

Could they really do it? Could they really make a dragon?

“Eeee!” squealed the children with delight.
“We did it! We made a dragon!”

Zaza turned to the dragon and nervously asked, “A-are you a friendly dragon?”

“Of course I am, silly!” said the dragon, smiling.

“I mean, what is it called in Sesotho?” Afrika whispers.
“I-Windmill! Windmill!” the driver says, turning up the volume on the taxi’s radio.
This is not the answer Afrika needs.

Afrika knows what he wants but doesn't yet know the name for it in Sesotho. His plan is to ask everyone he meets if they know the Sesotho word. "Hello, Uncle," Afrika greets the taxi driver as he climbs into the front seat. On the way to the market, Afrika sees his favourite bright blue windmill on a nearby farm and points to it. "Uncle, what is that thing called?" he asks.

Afrika realises that he still doesn’t know the word for windmill in Sesotho.

“That’s exactly what I want!” Afrika says and runs towards the table.

“That is beautiful,” Mme says to Afrika, admiring the colourful blades turning in the breeze.

Then Afrika sees it! A small windmill on top of a table, its wheels are made of recycled bottle caps.
“No, thank you,” says Afrika.

“Would you like a toy car, Afrika?” Mme asks.

As Afrika, his mom and Dintle continue walking through the market, they see a boy playing with a toy tin car. The wheels are made of recycled bottle caps.

Afrika wants the small, colourful windmill he saw at the market the last time they were there. It reminds him of the windmills they always see on the nearby farms.

“Look how colourful it is! You can see it from far away,” he tells Dintle, pointing out a windmill on the way to the taxi.

- Gerani bammbiri ḥi vhe tshikwea.
- Pfukani hejli ligi arali ni tshi khou shumisa khadibogisi jiseke.

- If you are using ordinary paper, glue two pages together. Put glue on the entire area of the pages. Let the glue dry.
- Draw or paint some colourful patterns on one side of the paper.
- Cut your paper into a square shape.
- Skip this step if you are using thin cardboard.

- Shumisan ruļa na penisela u ola laini mbili dži ḥumanyaho ḥodzi mbili dza tshikwea.
- Use a ruler and pencil to draw two lines connecting two opposite points of the square.

3.

- Gerani bammbiri ni fhirenyana hafu ya laini inwe na inwe. Zwino ni ḥo vha ni na ḥodzi dza 8.
- Cut just over halfway to the middle of the square along each line. You will now have 8 tips on your square.

- Petani ḥodzi 1 i vhe vhukati ha tshikwere ni songo finya bammbiri. Ni i nambatedze henehfo vhukati ngā guluu.
- Bring Tip 1 to the centre of the square without creasing the paper. Glue it in place.

- Petani ḥodzi 3, 5 na 7 i vhe vhukati ha tshikwere ni dži nambatedze henehfo ngā guluu.
- Bring Tips 3, 5 and 7 to the centre of the square and glue them in place.

- Phulani vhukati ngā phini. Songa-songani phini uri ni engedze buli.
- Insert a push pin into the centre. Wiggle the push pin around to make the hole a bit larger.

7.

- Tumani tshipelupelu kha penisela ngā u ndondovhedza phini kha raba ya penisela. Ni songo i ndondovhedza; arali na ita ngā u ralo, tshipelupelu a tshi ngā ḥo kona u mona.
- Attach the windmill to a pencil by pushing the pin into the pencil's eraser. Don't push it on too tightly; otherwise, the windmill will not be able to spin freely.

Vhudzulani tshipelupelu nga matungo uri tshi mone. Ni diphine!

Blow on the edges of the windmill to make it spin. Have fun!

Folbo's Magic Shop

By Kai Tuomi ■ Illustrations by Jiggs Snaddon-Wood

Nomsa's route home from school took her past the colourful houses, around the train station and through the veld to the family farm.

Nomsa liked the veld because there were fewer people there, but she hated how far away she lived from town. Most of the other children lived in the colourful houses.

"I wish I didn't live on a farm," she said, kicking a rock along the path.

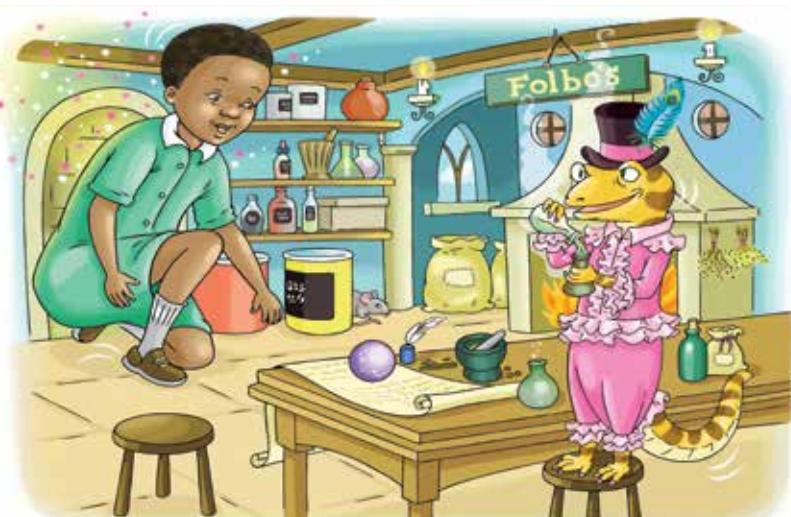

Nomsa knew the route well, so she was surprised when she saw a strange little building beside the path. It was too small for a person and it had hundreds of chimneys from which colourful smoke rose into the air.

"What is this place?" she said, bending down to read a sign above the tiny door that said: Folbo's Magic Shop.

Nomsa laughed. "This must be a joke. There's no such thing as magic."

"Oh," said a funny little voice, "you think there's no such thing as magic? Then explain this."

With a loud bang and a shower of pink and golden lights, Nomsa found herself crouched inside Folbo's Magic Shop with her head against the ceiling.

"What did you just do?" Nomsa asked in amazement.

"Magic," said the creature behind the shop counter.

Nomsa's eyes grew wide as she saw the creature talking to her was a lizard dressed in a frilly pink suit.

"My name's Folbo. Welcome to my magic shop. I overheard you when you said you wished you didn't live on a farm. I can help you change that with magic."

"You can?" asked Nomsa in surprise.

"Oh yes," said Folbo, grabbing a little potion bottle with his tail. "This potion grants five wishes. You could wish to live somewhere else. You could wish anything really."

Nomsa's eyes grew wider. "How much is it?" she asked.

"Oh," said Folbo, "it's cheap, only fifty cents."

"I have fifty cents," said Nomsa excitedly. "I'll take it."

"Well," said Folbo, giving her the bottle, "just be careful. Wishes don't always work out the way you want them to. Wishes can even make things worse. Sometimes it's best to be happy with what you have."

"Okay," said Nomsa hurriedly. "So, how does the potion work?"

"You drink a little and then make a wish," explained Folbo. And with a puff of smoke, Nomsa found herself outside the magic shop.

"No point in waiting," Nomsa said, taking a sip of the potion. It tasted like strawberries. "I wish I didn't live on a farm."

Nomsa waited, but nothing happened.

"Let me try something else. I know. I'm too short." She took a sip and said, "I wish I was tall."

Suddenly, Nomsa began to grow. Up she went, growing until her head was in the clouds.

"Woah," she said, as a bird flew past, "this is too tall."

With another sip, she said, "I wish I wasn't so tall."

Nomsa shrieked as the magic worked. Wind rushed past her. Down she went, shrinking until the grass waved like trees above her and Folbo's Magic Shop was the size of a mansion.

"Oh dear," she squeaked. "Now I'm too short."

She took another sip and said, "I wish I was my usual height."

With a pop, Nomsa returned to normal.

"I told you to be careful," said Folbo from the magic shop door. "You've used four wishes already."

Nomsa nodded and walked towards her home.

When she got to the farm, everything looked the same. Papa was in the garden with his vegetables, Mama was cooking, and her little dog, Max, was sleeping on the front step.

"I guess my wish didn't work," she said, disappointedly. "Hello, Papa. Hello, Mama. Hello, Max."

Max barked. Papa scratched his head and said, "Who are you?"

"Papa, it's me, Nomsa."

"Nomsa?" said Papa, holding Max to stop his barking. "Who's that?"

Mama came out. She crossed her arms and said, "Are you lost?"

"Mama, it's me, Nomsa."

"Nomsa?" Mama asked. "I don't know anyone called Nomsa."

"Oh no," said Nomsa, "this wish didn't work out at all like I wanted. Folbo was right."

Nomsa looked at her family and the farm. It seemed silly that earlier she had wanted to live somewhere else. Now she couldn't think of anywhere else she'd rather be. She wanted to be with her family on the farm.

"I wish to live here with my family," she said, taking a final sip from the bottle, "just like it was before."

With a puff of smoke, the bottle disappeared.

"Nomsa, you're home," said Papa, smiling. He let go of Max, who rushed over to lick Nomsa's hand.

"Nomsa," said Mama, "I've just finished cooking. It's your favourite."

Nomsa smiled and went inside to tell them all about Folbo's Magic Shop, the wishes, and how much she loved being home with her family on the farm.

Get story active!

- Draw two pictures of Nomsa that are based on the story: one where she is very tall and another where she is very small.
- If you could wish for anything, what would you wish for? Make a list of five things that you would wish for, where 1 is the most important thing, and 5 is the least important thing.

- Make a collage of a fantasy creature. You can use cutouts from magazines, paper, bits of cloth, beads and buttons and any other recyclable materials to make your collage.

Make a badge

1. Cut along the red dotted line to cut out the badge.
2. Colour in the picture.
3. Cut a circle the same size as the badge from some thin cardboard, for example, a cereal box.
4. Use glue to paste the badge onto the cardboard.
5. Use sticky tape or masking tape to attach a safety pin to the back of the badge. Or make a hole at the top and thread some wool or string through it so that you can hang it around your neck.
6. Enjoy wearing your badge as you read and listen to stories on World Read Aloud Day.
